

ABSTRACT

This invention is in the field of toxicology and clinical diagnostics. More specifically, this invention provides a single dry chemistry, liquid chemistry, or lateral flow dry chemistry combination test device for use in the detection of addition of the adulterant contained in Urine Luck™ a commercial adulterant to a specimen submitted for Drugs of Abuse (DAU) testing in aqueous fluids, including urine, saliva, serum, blood, sweat extracts, and liquid homogenates of hair.